cosmetic mole removal

Our Doctors use advanced Electro Surgery (RF) equipment to remove the raised section of a mole right down to skin level, the mole is flattened out and is then removed entirely without cutting or stitching. This is a preferred method as it leaves no scarring.

medical mole removal

Our Doctors thoroughly examine these moles and if there is any doubt over any cancer risk, they will recommend that the mole is totally cut out and sent for analysis (biopsy) and report to you once the results are known. Minimal scarring may be evident.

Each treatment is discussed with your doctor at your initial consultation to ensure you can make the most informed decision on which method is best for your situation.

treatment & expectations

The removal of moles is a very straightforward procedure. The results of this process are immediate as the mole is removed totally. The skin around the site may appear a little discoloured for a several days, but this will soon return to normal.

After treatment, you simply need to apply an ointment we supply and cover it with a Band-Aid for a few days.

If an excision is required, sutures are removed after seven to ten days.
